Dog Ear Publishing, United States, 2009. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Idilian Casanueva is an elementary school teacher who has worked with students of all ages, and continues to enjoy teaching students with special needs and their families. Idilian has received training as a Law Guardian, and has worked as a Public Health Social Worker Aide visiting children of all socio-economic backgrounds. Idilian received news many years ago that her precious child had a condition that falls under the umbrella of Autism. The pain of the news and the daily struggles are surpassed by the love of motherhood. She lives with her family in Northern Virginia. Biografia del Autor Idilian Casanueva es una maestra de escuela elemental que ha trabajado con estudiantes de todas las edades. Ella ha disfrutado la enseñanza a niños con necesidades especiales y a sus familias y también ha recibido entrenamiento como Guardian Legal y ha trabajado como Trabajadora Social de Salud Pública visitando niños de todas las estratas sociales. Hace muchos años, Idilian recibió nuevas de que su hijo tiene una condición bajo la sombrilla de Autismo. El dolor de estas noticias y la lucha diaria son sobrepasadas por su amor materno. Ella reside con su familia en el norte de Virginia. I like to flap my hands is a new Bilingual book for children of all ages, which is written from the perspective of a child with Autism. The children illustrated are Latino, Black, Asian, European, Native American, and some other special needs. Most children need to see themselves portrayed in this book, so that they can relate and remember the message. This book is a necessary tool in reminding neurotypical children and adults about the needs of autistic children, and that it is important...
